You may notice a few grayed out icons below. What does that mean? Geocache Submitter Cracked Version cannot edit or submit caches when a cache has already been submitted. Unsubmitted Caches If you are unable to submit a cache, the cache has already been submitted by another user. If you are the cache owner, log in to your geocaching.com account, select the cache from the list of caches and click the 'Redeem' button. The cache will be submitted for you. If you are not the cache owner, you will need to contact the cache owner to ask for permission to submit their cache for them. Submitted Caches If you are unable to submit a cache, the cache has been submitted by another user. If you are the cache owner, log in to your geocaching.com account, select the cache from the list of caches and click the 'Redeem' button. The cache will be submitted for you. If you are not the cache owner, you will need to contact the cache owner to ask for permission to submit their cache for them. Is Geocaching Submitting Caches to GeoCaching.com Safe? Geocaching is completely safe, though the geocaching.com website is not. We highly recommend that you don't do your geocaching on a public computer. At the very least, do not use a shared IP address. You may also want to disable all pop-up windows, and then enable them only when you are interacting with the website Mixed-Cellularity Leiomyosarcoma of the Gastrointestinal Tract: A Clinicopathologic Analysis of 21 Cases. Mixed-cellularity leiomyosarcoma of the gastrointestinal tract is a rare subtype of leiomyosarcoma. We performed a retrospective analysis of 21 cases, including 11 cases from our institution and 10 cases from the literature. The tumors were more common in men (71%) and occurred most frequently in the stomach (76%). Twenty-six percent of cases demonstrated immunoreactivity for smooth muscle actin (SMA), 36% for desmin, and 58% for estrogen receptor (ER). Thirty-four percent of cases had associated epithelial changes. Most tumors had a non-organoid morphology (82%), and the cells had abundant, vacuolated, or eosinophilic cytoplasm and nuclei with moderate anisok

Version 3.7.1: Version 3.7.1: *[SNIP] I downloaded this version from I was trying to add this update to my application but it's just asking me to upgrade to version 3.7.2. I'm not sure what to do. Is there any way to remove/update? Update: As it turns out, I just need to download the version that I have (3.7.1). That's what is displayed when I try to upgrade from 3.7.0. I just installed it, and all I can say is... wow. It seems really simple to use. I like it so much, I would actually consider purchasing a subscription just so I could use it.Q: Dynamic content method to escape html tags and preserve line breaks I have a method that takes in a string and will escape it (to remove html) and then again, strip all html and preserve line breaks. This is my method: public static string StripHtml(string s) { string newString = HttpUtility.HtmlDecode(s); return HttpUtility.HtmlDecode(newString.Replace("", " ")); } I am aware that the Replace method is going to replace the with the HTML tag, but how can I do this with the HtmlDecode method as well? A: I just tested your code and it worked for me. public static string StripHtml(string s) { string newString = HttpUtility.HtmlDecode(s); return HttpUtility.HtmlDecode(newString.Replace("", " ")); } This is the output from my tests: Test1 Test 2 Test 3 Test 4 Test 5 Solo, Roaming, and Lone Star
