A versatile tool to watermark videos. Create text, shapes, and images based watermarks. Supports batch conversion. Save output files in a number of formats. Simple and easy to use interface. Suitable for beginners as well as experienced video editors. uRex Videomark Platinum Free Download uRex Videomark Platinum – the versatile watermark generator If you are putting out videos on the web and wish to preserve your intellectual property, watermarking your content could be a plausible measure. uRex Videomark Platinum lets you apply watermarks based on text, shapes, or images. There are plenty of templates available if you are out of ideas, and in case you are not happy with the current video format, the app can also be used for conversion jobs. A swift and complex application Launch the application to be greeted by its somewhat classic UI. Start by adding your videos to the list. Yes, as many videos as you wish. The tool allows for batch processing, so you can apply watermarks to a whole collection of clips in one fell swoop. Before clicking Start, you should choose the base elements for your watermark. You can create the basic text watermarks, determining the font, color, and style of the tag. Choose to add images instead of text for a more expressive seal of protection. In the end, you can draw shapes on the screen, and color them accordingly. In short, uRex Videomark Platinum offers a lot of flexibility when it comes to how the final product will look like. Each watermark class opens up a specific menu, which requires you to click the Add button after the customization steps are completed. Clicking Add will load the watermark and brings you back to the initial layout, from where you can click Start to wrap up the process. If you wish to convert your video to another format, now is the time. Collapse the Output Format menu to choose a new file type such as AVI, MP4, WMV, FLV, VCD, and more. A couple of power options Adding watermarks in batches takes time, and waiting for such a process to finish is not a productive pastime. Luckily, the application includes a set of tools that instruct your machine to restart or even shut down your PC after the last watermark is applied. In summary, uRex Videomark Platinum is a handy watermark generator, flexible enough to provide you with a variation of watermark types. Its intuitive

Experience Full-Screen WPF Apps in Win32 (and the Metro Apps in Windows 8) Fully work on Win32 and Metro with the same code, no matter which APP-SDK UxCore™ Windows™App SDK Windows 8 was no doubt a step forward for Microsoft. It took a step back (well not entirely, but you know what I mean). If you have any experience with Windows 7 SDK, or in the past with Windows Itaniums, you will know that Win32 was good, but not that great. Yes, we had performance issues with Win32 and even on current generation of hardware, it was just not that smooth. So what did Win32 have that WinRT does not? It is easy. It is easy and it is Win32. In fact it is what WinRT is meant to be - a thin layer over Win32. Of course, I know you are thinking why should we use WinRT? And I can tell you WinRT is a complete technical mess. WinRT has a lot of problems with it. That's why we started working on AppSDK UxCore™. I want you to make apps that run on Win32, WinRT, or WinRT-like. That's right. You don't have to learn the WinRT API, it is Win32 underneath. You won't even notice the difference. We developed AppSDK UxCore™ and it allows you to make all kinds of apps for Windows. Of course, Win32 apps come first. But that is where AppSDK UxCore™ comes in. It allows you to code and compile Win32 and Metro apps with the same code, without any problems. Using AppSDK UxCore™, you can make Metro style apps, or Metro like apps. If you would like to create WinRT style apps (that's the new name for WinRT apps), you will have to make all your apps in WinRT. If you would like to create Win32 style apps, you can do that too. It's as simple as that. AppSDK UxCore™ is the ideal solution if you want to make all your apps for Windows 7 and Windows 8. You will be surprised how easy it is. Today's post 1d6a3396d6

Oxidative stress plays an important role in cardiovascular diseases and can cause cellular damage. Endothelial cells are considered as the critical component in the initiation and propagation of cardiovascular diseases. Thus, we investigated the antioxidative effect of verbascoside in the human umbilical vein endothelial cell line EA.hy926. Cells were exposed to hydrogen peroxide, and the expression of autophagy-related genes was evaluated. Cell proliferation was analyzed. Western blotting was used to detect the protein expression of autophagy-related proteins (LC3B and Beclin1). Hydrogen peroxide inhibited the cell viability in a dose- and time-dependent manner. The viability of cells treated with hydrogen peroxide for 24h decreased to $64.13\pm5.84\%$ at a concentration of 500µM and to $65.39\pm8.35\%$ at a concentration of 1000µM compared with the control group. Pre-treatment of cells with 3µM verbascoside significantly attenuated the decrease in cell viability induced by hydrogen peroxide. The mRNA expression of Beclin1 and LC3B was upregulated and peaked at 8h in cells exposed to hydrogen peroxide. The protein expression of LC3B was also elevated in cells treated with verbascoside. These results indicate that the cytoprotective effect of verbascoside against hydrogen peroxide-induced cell death is mediated, at least partially, by autophagy induction.Hepatocyte growth factor (HGF) mitigates the pathophysiology of acute liver failure by decreasing apoptosis and facilitating hepatic regeneration. Acute liver failure (ALF) is a lethal syndrome that leads to encephalopathy and hepatic encephalopathy. The two major mechanisms of hepatic injury during ALF are anoxia and hepatic necrosis, and both induce an inflammatory response. Although hepatocyte growth factor (HGF) is a potent mitogen for hepatocytes, we hypothesized that HGF could play a pivotal role in the pathophysiology of ALF. ALF was induced in mice by inducing acute portal venous obstruction. The HGF gene expression was measured by reverse transcription-polymerase chain reaction, and the secretion of HGF was determined by enzyme-linked immunosorbent assay. HGF decreased apoptosis and facilitated hepatic regeneration in the mice subjected to ALF. The therapeutic effect of HGF was replicated by recomb
