marks the next step in creating the most authentic and complete football experience in the industry. FIFA 20 had over 100 million players worldwide within the first month, and the new FIFA is for everyone. Whether you're into building and teaming up, or hoofing the ball up and down the pitch, FIFA has got you covered. Powered by Football™, and built on FIFA World Class Engine, FIFA 22 brings the game even closer to the real thing with fundamental gameplay advances and a new season of innovation across every mode.

SENIOR EDITOR Tom Short Head of Programming, FIFA, EA SPORTS It's been a journey with FIFA, and my favorite part of that journey is the fans. In 2014, the first year of the new FIFA development engine, we surveyed a wide range of football fans, from grass roots to the last drop of elite-level talent. Hundreds of thousands of fans replied, and the insights we received shaped how we build the engine and the game, ultimately resulting in a new FIFA that's better in every way. We've taken a look at a few of the areas we focused on.

A CLIMBING DOWN FOROLL FIFA worked with fans for feedback on how to make soccer fun and accessible for people of all skill levels. That meant watching the game evolve from how it was played in the 1960s to how it's played today, from the views you see from the sidelines to the skills required to develop your favorite team. We also learned that casual players still wanted to feel engaged in the competition, while players of all levels wanted to spend time building their heroes and to compete with friends. By working with fans for input, the new FIFA engine was built to be realistic, authentic, and feel real for everyone - from opponents breaking off runs, to skipping through chest high snow drifts on a winter morning in Switzerland.
