Nasal carriage of Staphylococcus aureus and Staphylococcus epidermidis were studied in adult patients and staff of a pediatric emergency department. Nasal swabs were obtained from 50 patients, 50 staff members and 50 students in the Department of Pediatrics of the University Hospital in Zurich, Switzerland. Carrier rates for adult patients and staff members were 12% and 20%, respectively. S. epidermidis was the most frequently isolated species; S. aureus was found less often. The carriage rate of S. aureus was significantly higher among health care workers (P = 0.01), especially among nurses (P = 0.02). Spontaneous colonization with S. aureus was associated with previous skin infection (P = 0.02). Carriage of S. aureus or S. epidermidis was not correlated with sex or age of the carriers./* * Copyright Amazon.com, Inc. or its affiliates. All Rights Reserved.

APEX Contact Point may be very useful when you want to make a plastic mold that is in an inaccessible location. A typical example would be the bottom portion of a house. This could also be the top portion of a piece of furniture such as a piano or similar. An easy way to get to this would be to use a Hex Key cutter and take a hole in the offending area of the plastic and using a hammer to make the inside diameter just a bit larger than the outer diameter of the intended insert. The key would then be used to punch a small hole in the offending area or somehow remove the area so that the insert will fit. A Dremel with a tiny bit or fine taper on the cutter head would be excellent for this. A tiny bit of a great finish on the plastic to serve as a caulking compound as a 'glue' for the insert to stick is also a good option. Another use is as a level spot on a bathroom mirror. APEX offers a number of specialty bits designed for specialty plastic cutting and this might be an ideal opportunity to take advantage of one of them. Vise-Grip Pliers are a type of pliers that are normally used to clamp, hold, grip and/or vise a number of items. They are a popular choice for wedding rings, as demonstrated in this photo example. Please take a look at the Vise-Grip section of the website for more information on these specialty pliers. Coming in the full length of the handle are two cavities for a 1/8" long dryer. A 1/4" hole is cut for the drive pin to be driven into the handle. A second hole is made for an inspection hole to check the length of the drive pin. The cold pilers are much more expensive than the wire cutters but are more suited to using a set amount of 'travel' in the cutting motion. The cold pilers normally have a rotary jaw on the side that acts as a cutting jaw that cuts a circle in the plastic as it rotates the cutter head. This is powered via a screw drive. A cold piller is used with a piece of abrasive such as emery cloth or sandpaper which is wrapped around the hole on the cold piller so that the cutting action can be made. The advantage of the cold piller is that it can be used with
